Itinerary:

After a welcome briefing, we will begin our hike along the trail.

We will walk towards the area of the caves to observe different geological formations. We continue along the trail through a Lenga forest to reach the viewpoint of the Sofia Lagoon. Here it is possible to appreciate the condoreras and see various species of birds.

We continue the tour passing by rock walls to see the first cave paintings almost unique in the region of Magallanes. The trail continues to La Ventana Cave and Escondida Cave, where it is possible to see millenary stalactites and stalagmites, as well as archaeological sites. Then the tour takes us to the Los Aleros Dos Herraduras sector, inserted in a centennial lenga forest. Throughout the tour we will be able to observe several species of orchids, birds and listen to the history of the territory and of this Estancia of the Chilean Patagonia from the first source. The tour ends after 6.4KM of walking at the same starting point.
